Council Gives Raise Further Consideration

"May they know that the moment of truth has arrived," procaimed Mayor Steve Grant at the City Council meeting last night in regard to the City employee salary increases.

However, this did not come easy at the meeting, even after the motion was carried at last week's council meeting calling for these raises. The problem of how these increases would be paid for still faced them squarely and there was some talk about raising taxes as well as cutting capital outlay proposals.

Grasping at straws, the Council even considered eliminating the position of the City Planning Director to help pay for all these raises. Councilman Gunnar Norberg made the original recommendation and Herb Blanks took up the cry, considering lumping together the Building Inspector duties with that of the Planning Director's. William Sefton questioned whether the job of the Planning Director was a dual function since the Building Department claimed to do all the de-

David Erskine River School Principal Resigns

A letter announcing the resignation of Mr. David Erskine, principal of River School, was read to the school board last night. He is to take the principalship of Old Mill School in Mill Valley. The letter expressed regret at leaving his many friends in Carmel.

The board also accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Judith Haidinger, math teacher at Carmel Middle School, whose husband has a position in southern California.

Mr. Rudy T. Herr of Eugene, Oregon, was approved by the board as Athletic Director and physical education teacher at the high school. Herr majored in biology, has a Master's degree in Physical Education and has 42 graduate hours in physics. The 31 year old athlete was chosen for his "leadership skills", said Supt. Dr. Harris Taylor.

For History teacher at the high school, Miss Linda Mercer was approved. She has a degree in Anthropology and has done some writing in this field. She has taught in Riverside for a year.

As teacher for Educationally Handicapped, Miss Judith Penwell with 5 years of experience in San Jose and Germany, was hired by the board. In answer to a question by Mrs. Roxana Blanks, Supt. Taylor explained that an educationally handicapped child is one who, although normal mentally, cannot profit from ordinary school programs due to neurological, vision, dislexia or other difficulties. He explained the screening process in

Rotary Gives Helpful Hand to Community Through Contributions

It is that time of the year on Carmel Rotary Club's calendar when the "old" is replaced by the "new."

Tom Brown, of Tom Brown Associates (Insurance), and newly elected President of the Rotary, will take over next week the responsibilities and duties the outgoing President Ed Bissantz will leave behind, culminating a year of successful ventures undertaken by the club under his leadership.

During the reign of President Bissantz a number of very worthwhile community projects were employed, resulting in a bank of goodwill and appreciation by the community as a whole.

President Bissantz, in his last President's Report to the Rotarians, included the following admirable contributions to worthy organizations:

The sponsorship of Boy Scout Troop No. 32 had become attenuated, so a strong relationship with the scouts was re-established, with Merv Sutton as Institutional Representative, and Gus Johnson and Ed Neroda Committee members. The club contributed fire extinguishers, a new horn, $100 working capital, $100 for support of the Boy Scouts Regional Council and installed a sign at the entrance of the Scout home.

The importance of the Carmel High School Scholarship Awards project was reaffirmed by Warren Edwards, principal. The membership voted to continue financing the awards and on the recommendation of the Student Awards Committee, headed by George Yates, the quality of the Diamond Award pins was increased by larger diamonds and up to $300 per year was pledged for this program. The project by the Carmel Rotarians was awarded a plaque as "Best Club Project" at the District Conference at Lodi.

A similar program was established at the Robert Louis Stevenson School, with an appropriation of up to $300 a year.

Still another scholarship program was offered. This one went to Monterey Peninsula College for a foreign student. The Rotary volunteered to pay the tuition fees for two semesters for a foreign student on the basis of "need, academic accomplishment and promise and the student's dedication to the goal of returning to his own country to apply his training."

Additional money was transferred to the Cobalt Fund to complete the pledge of $5000 to the Community Hospital. The money will draw interest until needed and that money will then be donated to another worthy cause.

The Carmel Police Department was recipient of $750 for the necessary sound-deadening insulation for the ceiling of the target range on the second level of the station.

A gift of $1000 was presented The Lyceum of the Monterey Peninsula for its summer seminars at Asilomar. President Bissantz called The Lyceum "a well-conducted organization headed by Mrs. Lewis Fenton, which provides supplementary educational opportunity for students of high ability who are selected by the school authorities."

All fines collected at a December meeting were contributed to the Chritsmas Fund of the Salvation Army.

The Rotary contributed $250 to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Action came as a result from a "Letter to the Editor" in a local daily newspaper on the Peninsula criticizing the SPCA.

Other noteworthy achievements the Rotary realized during the past year under Bissantz included:

- Sponsorship, under the direction of Howard Bucquet, of special musical programs in the elementary schools by musicians from the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra . . .
- Payment for their "fine new lectern" designed by Bill Cranston which was called for by the previous Board . . .
- Gift to the newly organized Northeast Salinas Rotary of a bank of foreign flags . . .
- Attendance at the District meeting where the president served on

Samuel Goldwyn Praises Our Area

(EDITOR'S NOTE: As a result of the article the Pine Cone ran on Frohman Productions June 8, Mr. Samuel Goldwyn wrote the following letter to the newspaper from his New York office.)

The Publisher
The Carmel Pine Cone
Carmel, California

Dear Sir: A friend from your area stopped in to see this old invalid and brought the news that you had published a story on a new film unit beginning operations there.

I wish to say that, to my mind, there is no area on this globe—and I have seen a good deal of it—that compares to Carmel for sheer beauty. The fact that few film companies have made use of its outstanding charms is for them to say; it is an ommission that should be rectified.

Runaway productions — those units which fail to utilize Hollywood union crews, and ostensibly shoot in Mexico and Europe — could do well to look into the casting advantages and cinematographic aid offered in your area. A casual walk down that street that leads to the sea on any bright sunny day would convince the most hardened producer that not only picturesque backgrounds abound, but there are a wealth of extra and even feature acting talent for the asking.

May you continue to sing the praises of your delightful area.

Sincerely yours,
S. Goldwyn

Cultural Radio Station Proposed

A cultural radio station for Carmel on a non-profit basis was proposed Monday evening by Carmel Cultural Commission Chairman James Gilman, "to increase the service we are offering the community."

He said he hoped to use Monterey Peninsula College or University of California personnel to provide live presentations of a cultural nature as well as assist in providing records and tapes of serious music, poetry or dramatic readings.

Gilman suggested that the operation of the station be financed by grants. The initial cost, he estimated, might be less than $10,000 if a small room at the Sunset Center were used. He was given permission by the commission to make a complete feasibility study.

"A Funny Thing" Is Happening At Studio Restaurant

After a successful winter season, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" again is scheduled for a run at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant beginning this weekend.

Returning "Forum" performers are: Ed Shinbrot, who previously played Lycus, and who will now have the Zero Mostel lead role of Pseudolus; Milton Hayes, playing the part of Hysterium whose impersonations of the supposedly expired heroine is a highlight of the award-winning musical comedy; and Dianna Lockwood, repeating the role of the statuesque whip-cracking beauty, Gymnasia.

Other members of the cast include: Allan Weinfield (Senex); Paul Feiten (Lycus); Winston Sargant (Erronius); Luann Brown (Philia); Bill Scott (Hero); Diane Felty (Domina); Lex North (Miles Gloriosus); Candy Knapp (Tintinnabula); Bernice Marie Kovalick (Panacea); and Toni Hyland (Vibrata); and the three Proteans who are played by Geoff Cocks, David Conneau and Rick Wolf.

Under the direction of Michael Keller, "A Funny Thing" plays Friday through Monday and thereafter will be shown at the Studio every other week through August.

"One-woman-show" At Museum of Art

by Pat Carey

Virginia Conroy, in private life wife of Eldon Dedini, nationally proven Cartoonist, is finishing up a one-woman show of her paintings (and one sculpture) during the month of June at the Carmel Museum of Art.

In the reviewer's opinion, she is one of the most powerful and profound artists ever seen on the Monterey Peninsula. She has worked for a lifetime developing her art and art philosophy.

Virginia Conroy has accomplished what few painters have, ever achieved, especially what few women painters ever achieve. The paintings follow one another in idea and content, culminating in the two great deep eyes called "Soul Screen" facing the doorway into the gallery.

She has a superb sense of design expressed with high imagination and economy of means. To quote the artist, "My panels are divided into three sections to stress the preoccupation we have with present day complexity. We must deal with what we have on earth, what we are discovering in the heavens, and what lies beneath the surface of the earth.

"Being an artist, I am attempting to stress the unity of life, both physically and metaphysically. I unified the progressing complexity in each panel and tried to express the idea of the whole universe as being in a state of grace."

LINES FROM THE STUDIO

Is Carmel ready for this? We mean Ed Shinbrot as Pseudolus, Allan Weinfield as Senex, Milton Hayes as Hysterium and Paul Feifen as Lycus, doing "Everybody Ought To Have A Maid" in "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum" opening Friday at the Studio. If their antics don't convulse you, it's too late for Geritol. This is the rowdy musical that packed our house last winter, but you'll see practically a new show with almost all fresh faces in our tremendous cast. "Forum" runs Friday through Monday, then "Little Mary Sunshine" resumes Wednesday for the rest of next week. Dinner and show $6, show alone $3. And Walter says to remind you we'll be open for lunch Monday, closed Tuesday, to observe July 4th.

Villians and Heros Clash In "Little Mary Sunshine"

by Jacqueline Yeske

Gilbert and Sullivan would have enjoyed themselves these days at the Studio Theater in Carmel.

"Little Mary Sunshine," her forest ranger friends and assorted guests at the Colorado Inn, warble and flutter about so familiarly that the old masters of operetta might easily plop them aboard their famous "H.M.S. Pinafore" or under the "Mikado's yum yum tree.

Although they don't manage to keep up with Anne Brown's pace and polish as Mary, the enthusiastic local cast manages to maintain creator Dick Besoyan's happy revival of a style close to Victor Herbert and Sigmund Romberg, as well as Gilbert and Sullivan.

And just as Gilbert once referred to one of his spoof operas as a "respectful perversion" of a Tennyson poem, so "Little Mary Sunshine" pokes fun at many an overplayed heroine and just too heroic hero.

Appropriately enough, it is the early 1900's, and Mary can't pay the rent on her inn in the Rockies. A strutting and colorful contingent of forest rangers provide the romantic appeal with their leader, tenor Captain Jim Warington, played by Lex North.

Villian interest comes from the mostly offstage Indian scoundrel, Yellow Feather, Alfredo Valdez, who makes up for lost time at every appearance.

With almost every minute of the fast-moving songfest, sufficiently laughter-charged, the supporting slapstick from Ron Geren and Kathy Holly happily adds even more of the light touch. Geren as Corporal Billy Jester becoming a "Heap Big Injun" and Kathy cavorting as Maid Nancy doubling for Mata Hari, hand in standout performances.

Another favorite with the house is the "so-pathetic-he's hilarious" Fleet Foot, a half-blind, half-there Indian guide. Really Carlo Grossman, he's the sidekick of a very believable Big Chief Brown Bear, Dick Felty.

As paying guest Mme. Ernestine Von Liebedick, Layne Littlepage injects a bit of culture into the Wild West with memories of her lost career as an opera star in Vienna. And four young ladies from the Eastchester Finishing School slam a very obvious and very enjoyable punch at snob appeal.

Director and choreographer Michael Keller probably couldn't resist the fun and joins in as an interim ambassador watching over Indian affiars, playing Gen. Oscar Fairfax, Ret. His belated government refund holds up its end of the spoof department, too.

Special kudos for an admirable attempt to achieve the fast-moving velocity of "Little Mary Sunshine" go to a speedy production staff. Stage managers Jimmy Brown and Joey Girotti had to

Irving Lundborg Names Hannon Carmel Manager

Hugh Hannon has been promoted to manager of the Carmel office of the New York Stock Exchange member firm of Irving Lundborg & Co. The announcement was made by Rollo Payne and Fred Hollenbeck who continue as resident general partners of Irving Lundborg in the Carmel office. Hugh will now be sharing in a large part of their responsibilities.

Hugh joined Irving Lundborg & Co. when the Carmel office was opened in 1956 after having sold his interest in G & H Supply Co. in Salinas, which has since been sold to Georgia Pacific Plywood Corporation.

He went through the local schools and four years at the University of California at Berkeley where his last two years were delayed by Army duty in World War II. His favorite memories of early Carmel are the splinters in his bare feet from the board walks along Ocean Avenue, and the tremendous civic battle over whether or not to pave the streets in Carmel.

Hugh's favorite hobby is golf and he is a member of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club. He is also active in the First Church of Christian Scientist in Carmel. He has been on the board of Directors of the Monterey County Symphony Association and has been active in the Carmel business area for the Red Cross and Community Chest drives.

His wife Virginia Blair Hannon is a prominent local artist and ceramist.

Hugh Hannon was named recently as Manager of the Irving Lundborg's Carmel Office located on Dolores between 5th and 6th Streets.

CELEBRITY TENNIS MATCH

San Francisco Forty Niners,' Y. A. Tittle, Matt Hazeltine and Frankie Albert, are among gridiron greats who will compete in the second annual Invitational Celebrity Tennis Tournament at Pebble Beach, July 1 and 2.

Out to beat them are such famous personalities as singer John Gary, movie actor Cornel Wilde, columnist Herb Caen, Doug McClure of The Virginian, and television's "bad guy" on Rat Patrol, Hans Gudegast.

Former Under Secretary of the Navy, Paul Fay of San Francisco, author of the Kennedy biography The Pleasure of His Company and actor MacDonald Carey will also be on hand. Mr. and Mrs. Fay will stay at Del Monte Lodge which will serve as headquarters for other celebrities of TV, movies, sports and literary worlds. Mr. Fay often played tennis with the late president.

Amateur tennis stars include Whitney Reed of Alameda, Jack Bowker of Sacramento and Jack Frost of Monterey. Tournament play begins at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Willa Mae Morris

Willa Mae Morris, Peninsula resident for the past 20 years, died in a local hospital after a short illness.

Mrs. Morri lived with her husband, Alve W. Morris, on Oliver Road, Carmel. She was born November 9, 1919, in Padukah, Kentucky. She is survived, in addition to her husband, by two sons, Alve W. Morris, Jr., of Sheppard Field, Texas, and Kenneth Brian Morris of Carmel. She also leaves two daughters, Mrs. Molly K. Johnson of Seaside, and Miss Terry J. Morris of Carmel. She is survived by her father, Louis H. Curvin, and a sister, Lucille Schultz, both of East St. Louis, Illinois. She is also survived by a brother, Clay C. Curvin of Salinas, and by two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday in the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel. Bishop John Coleman of the Church of Latter-Day Saints officiated. Burial was in Mission Memorial Park.

THINGS VISITORS SAY: "Is there a restaurant near here?"—there are close to 50 eating places in downtown Carmel!

McEwen - Lawford Attend Real Estate Association Meeting

Charles W. McEwen, Vice-president of the Carmel Board of Realtors, and Derek Lawford, salesman-director of the Carmel Board, have returned from committee meetings and directors' meeting of the California Real Estate Association held at the Sahara-Tahoe Hotel last weekend.

Legislation, real estate education, investments, and a wide range of other real estate subjects was discussed at the meeting.

McEwen, a director of the Real Estate Certificate Institute, also attended meetings of that organization while there.

"To Kill A Mockingbird" Will Be Shown By Institute

"To Kill a Mockingbird" will be the next in the series of captioned films to be shown for the deaf and hard of hearing at the Monterey Institute for Speech and Hearing.

The show is scheduled for tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the Institute's 969 Pacific St., Monterey, headquarters. There is no charge. A social hour with refreshments served will follow.

STOCK MARKET NOTES

by Hugh Hannon

Should we be selling on rallys or buying on dips? That is the question.

Most of the analysts I follow are saying "Buy on dips." Which stocks? Now there is an even better questions. It seems clear that there is a trend toward performance stocks these days. Fewer and fewer portfolio managers for pension funds and mutual funds are getting by with explaining away a poor performance by pointing out the fine quality of the stocks the clients' money was in as it sat still or went down.

More and more the owners of invested money consider a good stock one that goes up and a bad stock or investment one that doesn't go up. As there are huge sums of money not yet performance oriented it seems clear that this trend is going to be with us for some years.

So one group of stocks to buy are the ones that expect a sharp increase in earnings. These popular stocks are hard to buy because they sell at high price earnings ratios and have low dividend yields; but the increase in value of your investment far more than makes up for the lower dividend.

Also these companies increase the dividend frequently as their earnings increase. My opinion is that not only are these growth stocks the ones that will make money for you but they are the best protection from inflation. My conclusion: Everyone should have a good position in growth stocks. My firm thinks these are good buys now: Eastman Kodak (139), IBM (497), Texas Instruments (121), Teledyne (201), Halliburton (59).

Interested in a low priced speculation? "Investment Indicators," June 24, 1967, issue, puts Electronic Assistance Corp. (15) on their buy list. If their new gadgets sell as well as they hope, the stock could earn $3.00 per share in 1968 and $4.00 per share in 1969. It isn't unusual for electronic stocks to sell at 15 times earnings and 15 times $4.00 is 60. So its posible for this stock to go to 60 from its present price of 15. It also isn't unusual for there to be many a slip between the cup and the lip.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE RADIO

Part two of a program entitled "Students and Drugs," may be heard this Sunday on the Christian Science radio series, "The Bible Speaks to You" at 7:30 a.m. over station KGO and at 8:45 a.m. over station KDON. It will discuss what is behind the current campus popularity of so-called mind-altering drugs. It will also talk about man and God and what this primary relationship opens up to the individual ready to explore it.

Driveway Art Festival To Be Held

One of the up coming events to be held this summer will be a Driveway Art Festival for the benefit of the Carmel Valley Youth Organization. Many Carmel and Carmel Valley artists will be participating in this event including Avis Ballard, Jean Fosnot, Jim Fosnot, Harry Conley, Dennis Wagner, Marlinde Von Ruhs, Ann Goodwin and Guy Granger.

The Festival, which will be held on July 15 and 16, will include "art in action" plus a fashion show each afternoon. An interesting sidelight to the fashion shows will be the original batic designs by Harry Conley modeled by Chery Fischer who designed many of the clothes herself.

Besides the paintings, enamels, metal sculptures, pottery and batics on display, there will be music provided by Judy Wendel who is visiting the Monterey Peninsula before returning to New York where she will give a concert at Carnegie Hall in October. At the festival she will be the strolling violinist.

June Wedding For Barbara Burgers And Donel Geisen

Miss Barbara Lynn Burgers, daughter of Mrs. Mary Burgers of Carmel and Mr. John Burgers of Los Gatos, was married to Donel Mark Geisen, son of Mrs. Jean O'Brien Geisen of San Francisco, in a late afternoon ceremony on June 18th at St. John's Chapel in Monterey. Officiating at the service was the Reverend John T. Ledger.

Barbara, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a long, floating gown of pearl encrusted organza, the chapel length Watteau train of which was trimmed with pearls and star daisies, as were the long sleeves and bateau neckline. Her short veil was held in place by a small crown of pearls and daisies. She carried a cascade of white daisies and roses.

For her maid of honor, Barbara chose Miss Pat Gardiner of San Jose while her sister, Carol Ann Burgers, was her other attendant. They wore matching powder blue floor length gowns of soft organza with short sleeves and star daisy trim. They wore matching blue bows in their hair and carried cascade bouquets of yellow daisies.

James Kelsey of Carmel was Donel's best man at the service while Robert Haire of Sunnyvale and Jonathan Persoff of Los Angeles, brothers-in-law of the groom, served as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Burgers wore a pale pink suit with matching hat and accessories while Mrs. Geisen chose a champagne colored silk suit for the event.

A champagne reception for 150 guests was held at the Mark Thomas Inn after the ceremony and among those attending were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Walter Powers of Saratoga, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George MaGee of San Lorenzo Village. Others included the bride's aunts and uncles Mr. and Mrs. Philip MaGee of Manila, Philippines, Mr. and Mrs. George MaGee of San Lorenzo and Mrs. Mary Hubeck of Los Gatos.

Barbara attended Los Gatos High School and the Pasadena Playhouse and also went to San Jose State College. Before her marriage she worked for Crocker-Citizens National Bank in Carmel. She is the sister of Carol Ann and Susan Burgers of Carmel.

Donel attended Carmel High School and also Monterey Peninsula College and is the brother of Mrs. Robert Haire of Sunnyvale and Mrs. Jonathan Persoff of Los Angeles.

After the reception Barbara and Donel left for a week's honeymoon in Southern California from which they have returned and are making their home in Carmel.

The quantities listed in the State Highway Engineer's Estimate hereinafter stated, are approximate only, being given as a basis for the comparison of bids, and the Department of Public Works does not, expressly or by implication, agree that the actual amount of work will correspond therewith, but reserves the right to increase or decrease the amount of any class or portion of the work, or to omit portions of the work, as may be deemed necessary or advisable by the Engineer.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein.

The holidays upon which the holiday wage rate listed below shall be paid shall be all holidays recognized in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the particular craft, classification of type of workman concerned.

Copies of all collective bargaining agreements relating to the work are on file and available for inspection in the office of the Department of Industrial Relations, Division of Labor Statistics and Research.

Attention is directed to Section 7-1.01G of the Standard Specifications providing for the employment of apprentices on the work. Every such apprentice shall be paid the standard wage paid to apprentices under the regulations of the trade at which he is employed. Information relative to employment of apprentices shall be obtained from the Director of the Department of Industrial Relations, who is the Administrative Officer of the California Apprenticeship Council.

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 1770 of the Labor Code of the State of California, the Department of Public Works has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages for straight time, overtime, Saturday, Sunday and holiday work in the county in which the work is to be done to be as follows:

A Monument To A Little Boy's Dream . . .

by Dorothy Johnson

Once upon a time near Whittier, California, there was a small boy, who sat, cross-legged, on the bare floor, looking pensively at the colored pictures in his book of animals. "I have to see them," he said. "Some day I'm going to do it."

There is still much of that childlike lovableness in Emile Norman, an artist whose keen awareness captures the free life of spirit in all his sculptures. His talent is admittedly divine. His ingenious imagination is active. His perception is acute. A racoon, for instance, isn't vaguely just another mammal of an undetermined number. Each is an individual — one with perhaps a tuft of matted hair on his right flank — another with a greedier sniff to his nose, still another with a longer or bushier ringed tail; or with more bravado, cunning, or curiosity, as the case might be.

Although Emile's life certainly has a clean and clear design, he makes no decisions. "I just let things happen," he said. His philosophy is as simple as that, and as unconfused.

His delight in pure nonsense and his excitement over small favors was exposed to me when Brooks Clement, a topnotch photographer in his own right, Emile's business advisor and constant companion, arrived from the post office with a gift in hand. "Jambo," their two year old black poodle, started barking and clamoring for attention. Emile tore off the ribbons and unwrapped the package to show off two beautiful sweaters; his in bluebell ice and the other, for Brooks, in antique gold. "It's like Christmas!" Emile's blus eyes sparkled, and he quickly threw the soft wool over his shoulders, arranging the sleeves in an ascot tie about his throat. "I never thought she'd do it!" he exclaimed.

Such events are not uncommon in the Norman home that sits on top of the world in Big Sur, where a few lucky ones are invited to share his welcoming words, "Bon Appetit." Emile is a superb cook. No matter what combination of foods finds its way into his kitchen, you'll sample the ultimate in the fine art of savory cuisine. He selects his wines with the same sort of care you might apply to buying a painting, a sculpture, or a recording of good music. The camaraderie and good cheer associated with these occasions are truly memorable. It's something that nobody would forget to appreciate.

At first glance, from the urban point of view, life in such an isolated spot as Emile has chosen for his home, six miles high and hemmed in by more than 200 acres of virginal land that is a conservation of the remaining hosts of California's singular wild life, would seem to impose a completely revised edition of progress. However, once things started happening, we were soon going full blast.

Lunch on a deck overlooking the clouds was interrupted by a ring of bees swarming around their queen. We moved into the living room and listened to their whirring music. Although mechanical, their rhythm was free; different and primitive, to be sure — but, dosed almost to the point of saturation, one felt an odd sense of being part of it. "They're communicating," Emile said, in a soft voice. "Listen . . . It's not a flat roundness — their sound goes in an upward direction." He likened our expefience, which lasted for three minutes or so, to the crescendoed voices of people at a cocktail party, or perhaps a theatre intermission, when they vie with each other to express their emotions.

Emile believes that the tendency to rank anyone deeply involved in the arts is absolutely inexcusable. "An artist is an artist," he said. "He cannot be placed in any single category." He is convinced that any man who loves his work and "has to do it" is expressing his particular form of art. "It doesn't matter what he is doing — certainly he will be doing it well — whether it's painting, sculpturing, music — or perhaps teaching, cooking, gardening; any of the less glamorous skills that impose their need on the life of man." In Emile's words, "All men are artists who do not discipline their creative power."

"You have to be with your time," he continued, "and I use the machines and tools that are available today." Emile loves to work with plastics. In endomosaics, his own invention, he did a magnificent window, 48 feet high by 45 feet wide, for the Masonic Temple in San Francisco. His Shoji type screens, made of plastic, led to the development of a technique that laminates foliage to create interesting light and shadow effects. Often he inlays fish, birds and grasses, using any material that may enhance the appropriateness or beauty of his theme.

In his California studio, "Timber Claim," Emile is best known for his inlaid wood sculptures of birds, fish, and animals indigent to our coast. These may be seen at his art gallery, Mission and 6th in Carmel. Having traveled twice around the world, his most recent commission from the Bank of California will take him to his studio in Italy near the Carrara quarries. There he will sculpture and cast a seven foot bronze statue of "St. Francis" to grace their lobby.

In the Spring of 1965, his boyhood dream came true. One of his patrons, Harriet Keen Roberts of Carmel gave him three months in East African. With Emile, who at that time began his "African Portfolio," was a party of five, including Brooks Clement; their guide, Robert Lowis, a resident of Kenya; two helpers, Wainaina and Njaroge; and Kimani, the "boss and chief cook," who shared his enthusiasm for animals.

Exchanging recipes with Kimani one day, speaking in some Swahili and for the most part in English, the young African looked up, and there was a tenseness about his face that showed he needed to know the answer to something that bothered him. "Mr. Norman," he asked, "What is a Negro?" Emile paused reflectively before he replied. "Kimani . . ., Negro comes from the word 'black.' Many years ago, long before you were born, the American-Negro was taken into slavery from West Africa."

"Is that it?" interrupted Kimani, his voice rising. "You know, Mr. Norman, I'm a slave. It's not such a bad thing . . ." Emile listened with his heart as Kamino described his lot in life. "I have food to eat, better than beetles—I have work to do — and I can live here among the wildlife I love . . ." Hearing Kamino's story, it was easy to understand that slavery is of a man's own making.

On their safari, a rare black leopard roamed the high plateau. A pride of lions devoured their kill. Buffaloes charged. They tracked a herd of elephants. A group of monkeys were chattering aimlessly. Close to Narok, they came upon a sleeping rhino.

Visibly quivering with excitement, Emile shouted, "Not in a zoo, but in their natural setting! I never dreamed anything like it!" He told of flamingoes with rosy-white plumage and scarlet coverts; long-necked giraffes and cheetahs; short tailed baboons; and good fishing in a clear, rippling stream. "It was an adventure into the eternal cycle — as things are —," he said, "where some may go down in order to go up." Not sure that I understood, I begged for an explanation.

"Why speculate, Dorothy?" he smiled, "enter into any adventure the same way you entered this life. How and why is not important. Discussion and analysing only tears it apart. Then, what happens? One has to pick up all the bits and pieces and start all over again."

"I believe in eternity," Emile told me. "There is no end. I know I have been. I am. I will be. Let life be a constant flow with no stops and starts, no beginnings and endings —." No, I know, and I know I know, that when I reach that particular bend in my path, "there will come a peace that is unadulterated and a joy that is beyond understanding."

Brooks Clement says that his main objective is to assist and take pictures, both still and moving, of a great artist at work — and to document and record "His Story." Nevertheless, there's one thing he can't do! Perhaps nobody can do it! And, that is to reveal the INNER MAN who is the real EMILE NORMAN.

"My work is private," Emile says, "No one may see! It is my love affair. I cannot transmit what is in my soul . . ."

Internationally Known Artist To Teach In Carmel

Arden von Dewitz, internationally known seascape artist and president of the American Institute of Fine Arts, will teach a series of classes in oil painting on location on the 17 Mile Drive in Carmel from July 18th to July 22nd.

The classes, open to both amateurs and professionals, are sponsored by the Peninsula Art Guild and will be held each morning from 9:00 a.m. until 12 noon.

Von Dewitz is a former life drawing instructor at Marymount College and his specialization in the field of marine painting has won him recognition from the Secretary of the Navy. Several of his canvases are in the Navy's permanent collection.

Recently he completed a series of half-hour instruction films on painting for ABC in Hollywood in color, and these will be syndicated on a national basis after their preview showings in Los Angeles.

He has just completed a book on painting which includes the technique of both conventional and newer art media, and it is scheduled to be published late this summer by the Foster Publishing Company.

Those interested in joining his Carmel classes may obtain complete details by writing him at P.O. Box 1388, Laguna Beach, California.

Art Museum Delays Opening

THE CARMEL MUSEUM OF ART, on Dolores across from the Tuck Box in Carmel invites the public to visit the newly completed facilities between the hours of 2 and 4 P.M. weekdays.

Volunteers and a staff member will be on hand to answer any questions you may have concerning the museum and its operation. Due to difficulty in locating a certain number of large, museum quality paintings, the museum is moving its opening date forward to early September.

Many fine examples of work by the earlier Peninsula artists are now in the collection, and more continue to come in by gift, on loan, and through museum purchase.

Among the early artists represented are Jules Tavernier, Joseph Strong, Raymond Yelland, Will Sparks and many others. The Museum will gladly send on request a copy of its membership brochure. Please address Box 4241, Carmel-By-The-Sea for this service.

Art Contest For Children

For centuries, tales of princes and giants, dragons, and wolves, wicked witches and fair princesses, tales which know no boundaries, have enchanted the world's children.

Doubleday and Company is preparing to publish a collection of their favorite tales from such sources as national or regional folklore, Andersen, Grimm and Perrault, chosen and illustrated by children of many countries.

Doubleday and Company is sponsoring a contest to select color and black-and-white illustrations which will recapture these tales. An international panel of educators and librarians will judge all entries.

Entrants must be between the ages of 4 and 14. Each picture should be sent by May 31, 1968 to Children's Art Contest, Doubleday and Company, 277 Park Avenue, New York, New York.

Friends of Photography Hosts Evening At Sunset Center

Friday evening FRIENDS OF PHOTOGRAPHY was host to over 200 persons who came to Sunset Center to casually stroll past and gasp at the amazingly beautiful photography by nationally recognized greats Ansel Adams, Brett Weston, Wynn Bullocks, Edward Weston, Dorothea Lange, Imogen Cunningham and Minor White.

Judging from the envious expressions spread broad across their faces, those who visited the photography show's first public appearance apparently were pleased that FRIENDS OF PHOTOGRAPHY brought this non-profit organization to Carmel.

It is hard to say which photograph was most highly accepted because of the varying degrees of taste among the observers . . . but we can say this: no one who came through the doors failed to appreciate Ansel Adam's "Moonrise in Hernandes, New Mexico . . . or Bret Weston's "Guatemala Landscape," . . . or . . . Wynn Bullock's "Stark Tree."

This exhibit will continue throughout July and will be open free to the public on weekdays (except Mondays) from 1:00 to 5:30 pm and on Sundays from 9:00 to 4:00 pm. FRIENDS OF PHOTOGRAPHY will maintain a permanent gallery at the Sunset School closing one week between shows in order to hang the photos.

FRIENDS OF PHOTOGRAPHY treasurer Art Connell said, "We are trying, in many ways, to encourage interest in and support the growth in photography as an expressive art form." He went on to say, "We intend to hold workshops, group discussions and seminars, and help the young people seeking a career in photography."

Bennett Shows At Canterbury Woods

During the remaining days of June and all of July and August, Lois Bennett will have her paintings exhibited in Canterbury Woods John Tennant Memorial Auditorium.

Lois, with fifteen years experience, is a local artist and exhibits in Carmel, Pacific Grove, Stockton, and Virginia City, Nevada.

She is a believer in individuality and artists expressing themselves in whatever way they choose. She said that she is so grateful to be in such a beautiful part of the country . . . here inspiration comes easy.

As Told to Andre Hope

Last week we promised to tell you a great deal about pets in the Summer, and this includes those of us who are lucky enough to go along on trips with you. If we are going by car, remember never to leave us in it with all the windows rolled up and no water. If you see a visitor's car with a pet in it and windows partially down, don't reach in to pet us. We generally guard all of our master's property and may be a bit feisty about it . . . Oh, about that cool water, which applies to the beach, long walks and other things. Don't be kind and give it to us icy. The two of us are ice cube snitchers and whilst it's fun at the time, it can lead to tummy aches and other uncomfortable things like that. WE KNOW! On a long car trip we need our "comfort" stops, too and a chance to stretch our legs (on leashes). Also, though we are gluttons, it's best to carry our own food with you rather than sharing yours. In case of motion sickness, it's best to keep our food on the light side. If we've never traveled before, take us for a few trial drives first. Best of all, talk to our veterinarian. This is particularly important if we are going by sea or air. We may need sedatives, shots and general good advice. Never dose us with your own medicine! If our people are going to foreign countries, even to other states, it's also a good idea to check the regulations for (ugh) quarantine and special shots. Our D.V.M. can also suggest someone to see in case we don't feel really to well after all these precautions. It's nice to check on what hotels and motels welcome us or where ever else we may expect shelter in case they are not nice, sensible people who admire us in all our forms (may I take my boa constrictor for a stroll?) If all proves hopeless, we think that a nice young person can feed, walk and entertain us while you are gone: work for them, fun for us. Contact your local student employee's center.

May we also add that in the summer when our young owners are home and not so involved with school activities, it is a very nice time to get to know us and give us some training. Don't over-do it, however, if we have been somewhat quiescent during the winter, or are very young (you know about us and Spring) and need our sleep and loving-tender-care. All babies everywhere understand this, no matter how young and cuddly we may appear.

There is a great deal of talk around our house lately about gerbils. These are sort of the cousins of field mice, weigh about four ounces and look like miniature kangaroos. Mice we need? Seems they are clean, bright, easy to care for and other things we shudder to mention. Will let you know more about them when we have made an in-depth-study; whatever that is.

Our word for today is Z-O-O! Think the Monterey Peninsula should have one, together with an aquarium and outdoor fish-view. Think about it and next week we'll talk about it and what some of our enthusiastic friends have to say. Meanwhile, don't forget to write us about your pets and send pictures! We may change the name of this column to "Play-Dog". Just imagine a fold out of an octa-kini poodle!

NEWCOMERS TO CARMEL

Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Chatham finally found a house in Carmel at Viscaino and Flanders Way after searching since last March. Mr. Chatham is an assistant innkeeper of the new Holiday Inn. The Chathams are recently from Phoenix, Arizona, but originally from Suffolk in Tidewater, Virginia.

Mrs. Chatham's sister is coming out to spend the last two weeks of July with them. Then Mrs. Chatham will go back with her to spend the month of August at Virginia Beach. She is looking forward to a suntan.

MEDICARE

by Raymond S. MacDonald

Q. Could you give an example of the seven-month enrollment period for Medicare?

A. John Doe will be 65 on April 15, 1968, so his initial enrollment period extends from January 1, 1968 to July 31, 1968. For Mr. Doe to have Medicare doctor bill insurance starting the month he reaches 65, April 1, 1968, however, he must apply in either January, February or March 1968. If Mr. Doe applies in April 1968, his medical insurance coverage will start on May 1, 1968. If he applies in May 1968, it will start July 1, 1968. If he applies in June 1968, his medical insurance will not start until September 1, 1968. His application in July 1968, the last month of his initial enrollment period, will delay the start of his coverage until October 1, 1968. Were Mr. Doe to have medical expenses in the 7-month period between April 1, 1968 and October 1, 1968 he would lose a lot of medical insurance benefits because he delayed in applying.

Play it safe. If you're nearing 65, get in touch with your Social Security Branch Office and get the facts. If you're still working and cannot take the necessary time off during the day, the Social Security Branch Office is open from 9:00 am to Noon every Saturday for your convenience. These office hours are in addition to the regular daily hours from 8:30 am to 4:30 pm Monday through Friday.

Religious Art Exhibit Planned

The Church of the Wayfarer will hold its 11th annual exhibit of contemporary religious art in the fellowship hall of the church July 22-30.

The exhibition, which is free to the public, will be open from 12:30 to 7:30 p.m. on week days and from 10:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Sundays.

William Malcolm Bauer, chairman of the 1967 exhibit, asks that artists wishing to participate contact him.

Mrs. Robert Aurner, well known artist, who is director of this year's exhibit, has announced that the entries will be judged by a committee composed of Geza St. Galy, Barbara West and Stan Spohn.

Those attending the exhibit are asked to vote for the popular merit awards.

Most of the entries will be available for purchase.

Unique Summer Programs

The Stevenson School opens it's 15th summer session with four of the most unique programs in the United States being conducted at the same time.

Along with the precedent breaking "regular" summer program that combines regular academics and athletics, there is a special program in English entitled "Thinking and Writing" along with the newly created "Economics Program." In addition to these three fine programs, each lasting six weeks, there will be a complete music program operated by the Hidden Valley Music Seminar that will have 50 co-ed students in two five-week sessions. Added to the staff are specialists in English, economics and music to give the campus a most unusual academic "community."

One of the interesting features of the summer staff is the number of graduates from R.L.S. who have returned as Junior counselors, instructors or athletic specialists. Will Shaad, who graduated from R.L.S. in 1963, has now returned as a full time instructor upon completing his studies at Willamette State College. Two summer school instructors include past student body presidents Steve Merksames and Larry Kuechler. Others returning for six weeks include top-ranking amateur golfer Peter Flour, and Lee Danielson; Swim stars Brian Gill and Don Robbins, along with Larry Buzaid, Tony Raby and Bill Campbell.

The total program is under the supervision and direction of school President Robert U. Ricklefs, who has been instrumental in developing these unique programs and who has had the foresight to bring them together in one complete academic setting, this year has joined with the Hidden Valley Music Seminar under the direction of Executive Dean Peter Meckel. The Academic Dean and Director of the Summer Program is Frank Keith, who has headed this special feature of Stevenson education for the past five years. Mr. Edward Brown, dean of students in his second year, and Richard Zury, director of athletics in his 8th year, complete the administrative staff.

SUMMER PROGRAM The first such program in the United States, the summer program is for boys from the 4th through the 10th grades. It includes a regular program of academic subjects in the morning, followed by two full athletic periods in the afternoon that include riding, baseball, hiking, swimming, boating, shooting and several other sports with golf and tennis two of the most popular. The marine biology course (with field trips to the tide pools) and the art program, under the supervision of Artist-in-Residence Richard Pearsall, are two of the special courses, along with math, language, and English, that are taught during the summer. Weekends are spent in campouts, trips to the Salinas Rodeo, deep-sea fishing, hiking tours and visits to points of interest in the Central California region. Night-time is for games, musicals, ping-pong tournaments and the like.

"THINKING AND WRITING" The famous English program, written by Mr. Ricklefs, was given nation-wide attention two years ago when the Rosenburg Foundation and the National Council on English recognized its importance. In seminar form, it includes both practical experience and lectures, and is under the supervision of Charles Dillaway. Mr. Dillaway who is head of the English Department will be assisted by Stevenson staff members, where the course is taught in the regular school program. For boys in the 11th and 12th grades, it will run for six weeks and include one athletic period.

ECONOMICS PROGRAM Newly added to the Stevenson agenda this summer this series was planned to "help alleviate the alarming state of ignorance so prevalent among young people today, regarding the free enterprise system." Lectures, the use of language, (both writing and speaking) seminars and workshops will comprise the campus activities, plus a week of "internship" in various businesses and some field trips to economic centers will complete the program. Co-ordinating this program is Dr. Lorie Tarshis plus his staff of Mr. James Hansen and Mr. Jonathan Pincus, with assistance from Mr. Norman Ellis of the English Department.

THE HIDDEN VALLEY MUSIC SEMINAR: Developed and created by Peter Meckel some three years ago, this highly unusual summer program in advanced music for high school students will be discussed in more detail during the summer. The entire Monterey Region can take pride that this special educational experience will take its place beside so many other unusual annual programs such as the Carmel Bach Festival and the Jazz Festival.

The Complete Gardener

. . . a regular diet of information having to do with plants

Henry David Thoreau, the great writer and naturalist, commented that "Nature made ferns for pure leaves." It is primarily the great beauty of these leaves, and the range of subtle shades of green, that we treasure these plants. A well-grown fern is always soothing to the eye. No other plant can give you such a deep-woodsy effect. And there are so many types . . . so many sizes.

Ferns are easy to grow. Just be sure to protect them from the direct rays of the sun. And they need moisture. The exception is our native bracken fern. We must simulate the native habitat as nearly as possible. The soil of the forest affords good drainage. It contains lots of humus. There is always a layer of rich mulch. Perhaps the nearest marketed product we can use for planting ferns is a fortified potting soil . . . one that is a sandy peat loam; heavy yet porus. When planting, leave crowns exposed. If you bury the crown the fern will have a tough time surviving. Next best is eastern. A southern exposure is the worst. As for feeding we must bear in mind that these are foiliage plants, and that means nitrogen. Organic. One commercial grower's choice is a mixture of equal parts of hoof-and-horn, cottonseed, and blood meals. During the hottest weather he supplements with milorganite to avoid possible burning and to add trace minerals.

Ferns are comparatively free from enemies, but there are some diseases and pests that should be noted. Brownish spots could indicate a fungus attack caused by too much moisture and poor ventilation. Small reddish or yellowish spots might be the blister rust from fir trees. Remove any badly-damaged fronds and spray with fungicide. The woolly bear caterpillar will infest and devour fern leaves and may be picked off by hand. Avoid, as much as possible, spraying ferns with chemicals. Remove dead fronds to keep your plants fresh. These occur from age and cold weather. During the growing season new "fiddle-heads" emerge quite rapidly from the cross and unfold into lacy, new foliage. If you have a shady spot you might consider preparing a place for ferns, then visiting your nursery to make a selection. They will please you as much as many of your flowers, and they will come in handy in making arrangements.

The complete gardener is never without soil sulphur. The third most important element to plant life, sulphur is used for acidifying soil and for the control of many diseases. If your peach tree has leaf-curl an application of sulphur worked into the soil beneath the tree will help control the spores which infest next year's crop. Roses showing signs of rust should also be treated with soil sulphur. Apply it to the soil after deep watering. The growing of gardenias poses a problem for some of you and with that in mind we'll try to be helpful right here next week.

Robert Stephens

Robert E. Stephens, a resident of Carmel for the past 10 years, died on June 18 in a local hospital after a brief period of failing health. He was born in Sacramento on August 13, 1904. A World War II veteran, he served as a lieutenant commander in the Navy.

Mr. Stephens is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Nicolaus Stephens of Carmel.

Private family services were held on June 20 in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea in Pacific Grove at 4:30 p.m., with Reverend David Hill of All Saints Episcopal Church in Carmel officiating. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of the arrangements.

STRAW HAT FESTIVAL

The second annual Straw Hat Festival is to be held on Saturday July 1 from 11 a.m. until dark in the Carmel Valley Village. The event is for the benefit of the Carmel Valley Youth Organization to raise funds for their building. There will be games, prizes, rides food and one of the main attractions will be the "Blind Auction."

New Officers For Symphony Association

New officers of the Monterey County Symphony Association for the 1967-68 season are James Glaser, president; Theodore G. Morris, first vice-president; Robert Stanton, second vice-president; Gaylord Nelson, third vice-president; Robert E. Work, treasurer; Mrs. Nihla S. Knight, recording secretary, and Mrs. James Moore, corresponding secretary.

Also appointed to the Board of Directors were Mrs. Eugene Epstein, Mrs. Frank Ringland, Mrs. Hans von Richter, Mrs. Arthur C. Stewart, Mrs. Rody B. Holt, Walter Burde, Judge Eugene Harrah, Robert Henning, Philip Smith, and C. W. Copeland.

Carmel residents can obtain information on the next concert series at the Monterey County Symphony Association office located in Sunset Center, by writing Box 3851 in Carmel, or calling 624-4125. The first program is scheduled for October 24th in Sunset Auditorium.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"Independence Twin Parties"

Let the heads of families gather for a more-or-less sophisticated luncheon in the patio on Independence Day. Here in Carmel the younger members can rush to the beach for an independent picnic. The basic dishes will serve both groups with a few variations, but potato salad is the joint mainstay. Our favorite version of potato salad is as American as the Fourth of July. The just cooked, still warm new potatoes are sliced and marinated in oil and vinegar dressing, then mixed with the savory ingredients given in the following traditional recipe.

For the young and older marrieds a bar is set up at home. Youngsters carry an insulated ice chest filled with favorite regular and low-cal bottled soft drinks. Finger foods for both generations consist of chips and raw vegetables with cold french-fried onion rings and deviled eggs for the beach crowd. Fried chicken of the shake-and-bake kind is appreciated by all ages, while a beautifully decorated whole fresh salmon poached, or baked, and served cold, is the piece de resistance for the patio gourmets. Potato salad for all. Watermelon for the teen crowd and a strawberry dessert for the stay-at-homes. We'll summarize the "twin" menus prepared in the same kitchen but eaten in different locales. Then everyone can be truly independent!

Classic Fried Chicken

This is a basic way to fry chicken or thaw the already cut up kind. Wipe dry with paper towels. Break an egg into a bowl, beating with a fork. Dip chicken pieces into egg, seeing that each is well coated with egg; add more whipped egg as needed. Then roll each piece into seasoned flour; use enough to make a paste so chicken will hold its juices. Fry in deep hot vegetable oil ¼" deep. Turn, brown on other side. Lower heat and cook until crisp and golden brown. Drain quickly on brown or absorbent paper, then serve at once in baskets with hot buttered biscuits, or for a beach picnic, cool chicken first on cake rack. Wrap in transparent plastic bags and chill until needed. For the gourmets-at-home you might add a bit of curry powder and oregano to the flour and first remove the skins from chicken. Also provide plenty of chicken breasts for fastidious appetites. Picnickers prefer drumsticks, eaten out of hand.

Cold Poached Salmon

(Serves 12)

One whole 6 lb. salmon, head removed; 3 tbsps. white vinegar; 1 bay leaf, 1 onion, sliced; 4 peppercorns; 3 whole cloves; ½ cup diced celery; parsley sprigs; 1 tbsp. chopped dill; 1 tsp. rosemary; water to cover; salt and paprika to taste. Combine ingredients and bring to boil in about 5 cups water; simmer 18-20 minutes. Wrap scaled and cleaned salmon in double cheesecloth and carefully lower onto rack in roasting pan. Cover and cook gently on top of stove for 20 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Remove salmon, let drain and cool. Remove skin; refrigerate and decorate salmon with mayonnaise to which minced chives, parsley and watercress has been added. Garnish with cucumber slices and lemon quarters. Capers may also be mixed into the mayonnaise and cooked bright green peas add eclat served cold.

Hearty Potato Salad

Two lbs. potatoes, medium; 4 tbsps. oil and vinegar dressing; ½ tsp., each mustard with horseradish and Worchestershire sauce; ¼ tsp. savory; ½ cup sliced celery and minced green onion, each; 2

Potato salad is as American as the Fourth of July. Here, the warm potatoes are sliced and marinated in an oil and vinegar dressing, then mixed with savory seasoning and mayonnaise before serving.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me."

This verse from Exodus is the Golden Text of this week's Bible lesson on "God" to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Mrs. Edna Lapham

Mrs. Edna Caphen Lapham, mother of Mrs. C. Mark Thomas of Carmel Valley, died in her Carmel Valley home Sunday night.

Born in Noroton, Connecticut, April 5, 1884, Mrs. Lapham was graduated from Smith College in 1905.

Mrs. Lapham is also survived by two sons, John Lapham of Center Point, Texas and Frederick D. Lapham of New Canaan, Connecticut, and another daughter, Mrs. Samuel Dunlap III, of New Canaan. She also leaves a nephew, Frederick Capen, of Carmel Valley.

Private funeral services were held Tuesday at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church in Carmel Valley with Reverend James Brock officiating. Burial will be in New Noroton, Connecticut.

Friends wishing to make contributions in her memory may do so to the building fund of the Community Hospital, Box HH, Carmel. Paul's Mortuary of Pacific Grove was in charge of arrangements.

2 BEDROOMS, CARMEL WOODS, $28,500

A very neat, clean home in a delightful setting. There are good-sized bedrooms, for a small souse, a separate dining room, even a laundry, Garage. Sunny garden. An excellent home at (for Carmel) a low price.

OCEAN VIEW ACRE LOT—$16,500

In Rancho Mar Monte—convenient to ALL Peninsula Cities—we have a wooded hillside acre with a Point Lobos view. This delightful lot is not hard to build on and it's priced to sell at $16,500. Exclusive.

2 ADJACENT HOUSES AT $14,250 EACH

SLIGHT CATCH: both are on a single site. But where in this area (Lower Carmel Valley, specifically) can you buy two COMPLETELY FURNISHED houses for $28,500 on very liberal terms? These aren't shacks, either; they're charming, solid, Carmel stone cottages on a beautifully landscaped, easy-care quarter acre. Each house has living room, bedroom, bath, and kitchen; one also has a lanai.

Pyrotechnics for July 4th

BOOM!

Goes the surf in the front yard of four fascinating ocean-front homes, $99,500 to $150,000. If you could enjoy the Boom just as well from across the street from the sea, maybe our fine home for $43,500 will fit your budget better. Or choose our choice $25,000 lot and build your own!

BANG!

up house for a family or a couple with lots of hobbies or studio requirements. 4 or 5 bedrooms, 2½ baths, in sunny Hatton Fields near Carmel High and shopping, and only $47,500. And wonderful outdoor-living patios!

SIZZLE

in a new home that's like way out, Man. You walk through an oak tree, and then you enjoy the secluded courtyard and the oaks through handsome floor-to-ceiling windows once you're INside. Price $49,500 and the owner invites offers. Dolores near 13th in Carmel.

WHISH!

You're on the golf course if you select from among our seven remarkable homes in the forest, all cart-distance from the Club or right ON the courses, and priced $52,500 to $85,000. An unusual selection!

ZOOM!

Anywhere on the Peninsula by bus — it's right at your front door! And then close the world behind you when you return home to the inner-patio-oriented 3-bedroom charmer for only $29,750. A great Carmel value.

SPARKLE!

That's what this house has. It's an indoor-outdoor house on more than 3 acres in Carmel Valley, and probably one of the most interesting and carefully planned and built contemporaries in this whole area. If you are the kind who likes a ranch setting in complete luxury (with great quarters for your horses, too), by all means, call us now.

POP!

Yourself right out into the sunshine of Carmel Valley and into the cutes A-frame you ever saw. You don't need to do a thing to it but enjoy it from the moment you take possession of its walled-in charms. And it's even furnished at only $16,000.

FIZZLE

as a do-it-yourselfer? What you want is an immaculate, beautiful, FINISHED home, preferably with a beautiful garden as that is your speciality? We have it near Carmel Point, and with one of the finest Point Lobos views in Carmel, $72,500.

SWISH!

That's the word for a luxurious home with 2 bedrooms plus 3 complete suites, five fireplaces, glamorous, tasteful decor throughout, for $72,500. In Carmel and whooo-eeee, the views!

FLARE!

for the early-American charm and its warm relaxed family living? Beautifully kept, nearly new home on ¾-acre of woods and seclusion in Rancho Mar Monte for only $49,950.

WHIZ!

That's what your friends will say YOU are when they see what you found in the Valley for only $26,000 on a FULL ACRE — a little adobe which you can happily add to as much as you wish, or just enjoy its charms the way it is. It's unusual; you should see it!

TWINKLE!

Every little star — and you'll see them all, every night, if you live in this unusually fog-free spot in Carmel Valley. This is a handsome, large adobe ranch home, with a guest house and an enchanting swimming pool; absolutely choice two-plus acres of complete privacy. $110,000 and worth every penny!

CARMEL CHARM IN PACIFIC GROVE: A very attractive Carmel-type home PLUS a spacious garden cottage suitable for guests or artist or writer. Situated within walking distance to the seashore, the golf course and the business area, this property should appeal to the purchaser who seeks these features: heavy shake roof (new), living room with a fireplace and a limited marine view, a dining room with a Franklin stove, two bedrooms, kitchen and bath. Separating the guest cottage (two bedrooms) from the house is a delightful patio and garden. For sale furnished (all items in good taste) at $31,500 . . . unfurnished at $29,500.

LARGEST HOME ON CARMEL POINT FOR SALE: Located a few steps from Scenic Drive, this ideal Family Home with its flexible floor plan comprises seven or more bedrooms, seven baths, a large living room, a formal dining room, a real chef's kitchen, servant's quarters (bedroom, sitting room, bath), master bedroom (copper-hooded fireplace), a guest wing (ideal for teen-agers or studio usage), and an enormous patio with tennis courts adjoining. Evidence of custom-quality materials and fine workmanship throughout. Priced at $215,000 and shown by appointment.

A NEW LISTING ON CARMEL POINT: Planned for casual living with minimum outside maintainance, this residence is ideal for a retired couple. With a sunny east exposure from its open, walled patio-courtyard, the property presents a cheerful atmosphere. Spacious living room with some paneling, a fireplace with shelves and cabinets on each side; a dining area with barbecue; a kitchen with built-in equipment; two bedrooms (master bedroom is 15' x 16') and two baths. Shake roof, driftwod exterior finish and central heating are other desirable features. VERY REALISTICALLY priced at $49,500.

WE BELIEVE THAT WE OFFER the best 3-bedroom, 2-bath family home available in Carmel. It's located on a fine corner lot handy to town and schools, and has a patio for sunning nd play space for the kids. The kitchen is modern in every respect, the family-dining room opens conveniently off the kitchen, and the carpeting is new. There are 1400 square feet here and you can't match it for $31,500. Ask your broker to show you Carmel Multiple #2072, or we'd be delighted to do so.

YOUR FAMILY OR ANY FAMILY would love to live in this redwood home of great beauty, and lots of space inside and out. There are 6 bedrooms, 3 baths and extra rooms besides. There are loads of surprise closets under the steeply sloping roof, and a modern kitchen. One of the bedrooms and its bath are over the garage and separate from the house. The 27-foot living room has an immense hearth and fireplace, and the dining room is a real charmer. What's more, the price is great! It's only $44,500. Be sure to see it!

IN ADDITION, WE OFFER you our new listing of real dignity and quality behind the High School. This one has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, a formal dining room PLUS a large family room. This opens onto a patio which is ideal for out-of-door living. We're anxious to show you this one priced at $47,500, and will make the apointment any time you wish.

tail work for the commission. Then Eben Whittlesey brought back into focus the problem at hand, that of cutting the budget somewhere, and said, "We can't ease the pain by elimianting one or two positions just because we are faced with a problem of budget." Norberg put a halt to this "off with the head" proposal by suggesting that the Planning Commission, Planning Director and the Building Inspector all be heard from before taking any further steps.

Blanks agreed and said that certain goals were established and questioned whether these goals could be handled by one man.

Newly hired administrative specialist Milton Steckler appeared before the Council to voice his first official proposal: that of an administrative game. This game, enjoyed by the armed forces as well as a number of national corporations, is played by teams and designed to make the teams make decisions, arriving at one collective conclusion. The Administrative Decision game, researched and proven, should benefit the Council in their decision making tasks which lie in wait for them at future Council meetings. It will be open to the public and will begin at 9:00 a.m. Saturday, July 8 in the City Hall chambers.

radishes, thinly sliced (unpeeled); 2 hard cooked eggs; 1 tbsp. pickle relish; 1/3 cup mayonnaise; 1 lb. bologna, sliced ¼ inch thick; tomato slices; iceberg lettuce.

Cook potatoes in their scrubbed jackets in boiling salted water until tender but not soft. Drain and peel. Meanwhile mix dressing with mustard, sauce and savory. Slice potatoes; toss with mixture while still worm. Marinate in refrigerator 3 hours. Combine with ingredients until well mixed but not mashed. Reserve the bologna slices, tomatoes and lettuce. Arrange bologna slices on platter, filling each slice with potato salad. Serve on lettuce garnished with tomato slices. Pass mayonnaise. For youngsters the bologna goes fine but the others might prefer their salad decorated with pitted ripe olives and anchovy curls. The amount given serves 6. Be sure to provide plenty.

Summer Strawberry Trifle

Two pints fresh strawberries, halved; 1 cup sugar; ¼ tsp. cinnamon; dash of cloves; 2 tbsps. water; 12 slices day-old white bread, crusts removed; 1/3 cup butter, melted; 2 cups sweetened whipped cream; strawberries for garnish.

Mix first 3 ingredients together in saucepan. Cook slowly to boiling. Simmer 5 minutes. Brush bread on both sides with butter. Using 1½-qt. souffle or serving dish, line bottom and sides with bread. Brush edges of bread with syrup from cooked berries. Alternate layers of cooked berries and bread. Chill overnight. To serve, garnish with whipped cream and berries. SCHOOL BOARD response to a question by Dr. Hilton Bialek, that the child must be referred by a credentialled psychologist and a licensed medical doctor. The class would have 12 students, said Mr. Dan Yurkovich, assistant superintendent.

Mrs. Marlene Harris of Carmel will teach first grade at Tularcitos School.

A revised salary guide for administrators was accepted by the board which would have as its base the highest salaries paid teachers, or $10,000. There would be a slight raise for each of seven years experience as well as graduate work beyond the Master's degree. A doctorate would entitle the administrator to only $400 more in salary per year.

Supt. Taylor was granted a raise of $1000 a year and was commended by board member, Clayton Neill, Jr., for doing a "terrific job" during the past year.

Wrestling was added by the board to team sports at the high school. Mr. Michimira, History teacher, started the program on a trial basis last year. Wrestling appeals to all types of boys, said Taylor, who don't have to be heavy as in football or fast as in basketball or track.

Mrs. Roxana Blanks, was presented with a surprise cake which she shared with those present. She received a "Welcome Home" card from her husband along with a box of yellow chrysanthemums. Appreciation of her work was expressed by board members.

Mr. Orville Rogers, principal of Carmel Middle School and Mr. H. F. Chapple, assistant principal, described the results of a grouping survey of 7th and 8th grade students. It was found that 49% of students were consistently placed in the same group by all three departments, reading, math, English, as high, medium or low students. Only six percent showed no consistency, but these are all enrolled in some special program to meet their needs.

Flood Plain Report Heard

Another 5-10-20 or 100 years may go by without Carmel River flooding again; but then, it may overflow its banks this coming season! According to the Army Corps of Engineer's Carmel River Flood Plain Report presented to the Monterey County Board of Supervisors in Salinas this week only history can be our guide and "we can expect that the river will, at some time, flood again."

Lt. Col. H. McK. Roper, Jr., San Francisco deputy district engineer, said, "Insofar as this flood plain information report is concerned, our immediate mission and the report's aim is to motivate prompt action from the people of the Valley and the County." At this meeting with the County, the Army Engineers offered no definite flood protection plan.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Jenny Andreasen

Mrs. Jenny T. Andreasen, a resident of Carmel for the past 15 years, died in a local hospital on June 26 after a period of failing health. She was born in Jacobstad, Finland and had lived with her daughter, Anna Andreasen, at 4th and Dolores in Carmel. Her daughter is her only survivor.

Mrs. Andreasen was a member of the Rebecca Lodge 342 of Rodeo. Funeral services were held on Wednesday at Sunset View Cemetery in Berkeley. The Reverend Dean C. Ellern of the Rodeo Presbyterian Church officiated at the services. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of the arrangements.

Dr. Milton Henry Shutes, Carmel resident since 1950 died June 24 at Community Hospital after a period of failing health.

Born in St. Louis, Missouri, on August 30, 1883, he came to Oakland in 1914 to practice his medical specialty - eye, ear, nose and throat until his retirement in 1950.

Dr. Shutes was chief in his specialty at the Cowell Memorial Hospital of the University of California during those years. He was a past president of the medical staff of the Samuel Merritt Hospital in Oakland and remained active for years.

He wrote and had published four books on the subject of the medical events in the life of Abraham Lincoln, a lifelong hobby. He also wrote a history of the Alameda County Medical Association.

Dr. Shutes was active in the Carmel Rotary Club and was a member of the Monterey Peninsula Community Church.

In addition to his wife, the former Helen McKillip, of Carmel, survivors include his sister, Miss Flora Shutes of La Jolla, a son George S. Shutes of Chicago, a daughter, Mrs. John S. (Marilyn) Glover of Walnut Creek, and four grandchildren.

Memorial services for family and friends were held Tuesday at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Paul's Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Remembrances in his memory may be sent to the Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula or to favorite charities.
